#Awareness Is The New Black

update your intro if you have a past campaign

As participants, Junior League of Albany members will demonstrate the limits that poverty can play on citizens in our local community by wearing the same black dress for five working days. The objectives of the LBDI are: to raise awareness of the difficulties facing those who are in need and have few resources; to understand how limited resources can affect daily life; and to raise funds in support of the mission of the JLA. These funds will help us continue to offer training and volunteer opportunities for our members, and to support the local organizations with whom we partner.

The LBDI was established by the Junior League of London in 2014. During London Fashion week, the members of Junior League wore the same black dress each day to help raise funds and increase awareness of poverty in their city. The LBDI was such a success, the Association of Junior Leagues International called on chapters to join the cause.

Throughout the week there will be a number of online activities and announcements, as well as some in-person events. You can follow along with the LBDI on the Junior
